

Macro Solar Power Electronics

In this paper we study the use of solar energy to power an energy-efficient LTE macro base station. By coupling a photovoltaic (PV) solar panel with batteries that can store the energy produced in high solar radiation periods, to be used during nights, as well as cloudy days, solar panels can power base stations at very limited

This is our second order from Macro DC. First we bought 2 pcs 450W trina solar panels. Recently, we bought their 450W Lvtopsun solar panel. They are super accommodating and easy to negotiate with. The panels are of great quality at such an affordable price in Bohol. To those looking for a trusted solar shop, I highly recommend them!

The input to the solar explorer kit is a 20 V DC power supply that powers the controller and the supporting circuitry. A 50W solar panel can be connected to the board (typical values  $V_{mpp}$  17V,  $P_{max}$  50W). However, for quick demonstration of the power processing from Power electronics and control should not be the primary research contribution of the papers. They are of interest only when they are part of the energy conversion process being described, such as power electronics converters treated as a part of electric drives, or grid interfaces for electric power generation or electric energy storage devices.
