A nice "protected" box for portable use, but sounds a bit expensive (and limited) for home use. I suggest you start with a kill a watt to measure the "running" power (Watts), the "startup"(max) power (Watts), and the energy use during 24 hours (Wh or kWh). And maybe some more appliances you like "on" during a power outage, like a radio, rechargeable (USB power packs) ...

Access to energy is a cornerstone of the GOM's efforts to lift Madagascar out of poverty. The objective is to double energy production within five years, increase access to electricity for at least 70 percent of the population by 2030, improve reliability of supply, and reduce energy prices.
