The mySunrun tool encompasses an enhanced customer website and new mobile phone app, which provide Sunrun customers with new ways to track production, socially share savings insights with friends and manage their customer accounts.

The app is really cool. The UI/UX design is well done and having 24/7 insight into what is happening to the system is fantastic! However, here are some few ideas to improve the app: The app should be able to tell users, how much energy they used and at what time they are using energy the most vs the least, when they're pulling from the grid, and when they're ...
