Lead Acid Batteries. Lead acid batteries were once the go-to choice for solar storage (and still are for many other applications) simply because the technology has been around since before the American Civil War. However, this battery type falls short of lithium-ion and LFP in almost every way, and few (if any) residential solar batteries are made with this chemistry.

I'm looking for a way to be able to connect a Solar Panel (5.5 V / 540 mA) and a Water turbine generator (3.3 V / 120 mA) together to charge a LiPo Battery of 4,000 mAh.. While using the solar panel alone, the LiPo Rider Pro from SeeedStudio did the job, and I was powering my Arduino MKR WAN 1310 without any problem. Now I want to add the water ...
